

SS6E4 – Analyze different economic systems.

- b. Explain that countries have a mixed economic system located on a continuum between pure market and pure command.
- c. Describe the economic system of Canada

We have learned about the economic continuum and countries that lie between being a pure market and pure command. Using your notes and prior knowledge, describe the difference in pure market and pure command economies. Include information about the following: A country that is on both ends of the continuum, definition, explanation of why the country is on that end of the spectrum, and why it is impossible for a county to be pure command and pure market economies.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There is no handwriting or other markings on the paper.

Benchmark Example of command economies

The country of Korea has an autocratic government. An autocratic government is a government where government makes the majority of the economic decisions. The governments owns just about everything in the country such as oil, telecommunications, and majority of the land. While they are a command economy they are not at the very end of the economic continuum because the citizens do have a small amount of freedom and choice.
