

Growing an Economy

You have just been elected President of a small European nation called Schukapshurack. You want to raise your country's standard of living by increasing your nation's GDP. Your literacy rate is already 100%, so you need to find other ways to help your economy grow.

You have four choices: Investment in Physical Capital, Investment in Human Capital, Finding new Natural Resources, and Entrepreneurship.

Put your choices into a list from Most Important (#1) to least important (#4), then write me (and your people) a speech explaining your decisions.
