

Latin America Government Study Guide

1. A _____ type of democracy involves a prime minister as head of government and has a parliament that votes for the _____.
2. A _____ type of democracy has the chief executive as a president?
3. A _____ type of democracy has a monarch as a symbolic head of state?
4. In an autocratic system of government a single _____ holds all power.
5. In a parliamentary system the _____ has the most power?
6. In Mexico the head of government is the _____.
7. Out of all Latin American countries _____ is more command leaning on the continuum than any other Latin American country.
8. _____ is a government where political authority rest with a single leader.
9. _____ is a government where political authority rest with a nation's citizens.
10. _____ is an organization which represents a specific political agenda and socioeconomic positions within a given nation.
11. _____ is the title often given to the head of government in a parliamentary democracy.
12. A _____ most accurately represents the will of the people, but is a lengthy process because it allows all citizens to vote. ,
13. In the figure below, what type of government does "A" represent?
14. In the figure below, what type of government does "B" represent?

